

Expedition Reptile Newsletter

Spring is in the air!

As the days get longer and the temps climb, Expedition Reptile is shaking off the winter chill and getting ready for our most animated season yet! Because when Harley wakes up, the whole crew wakes up!

Our Tegu is officially done with her long brumation. She'll be waking up hungry, and ready to steal the spotlight at every show.

Expect maximum tongue flicks, and zero chill!

Chester Cheetos Goes Hollywood

We just wrapped an absolutely killer photoshoot with Chester Cheetos the Iguana. That vibrant orange glow, that sassy side-eye, those perfect “I know I’m fabulous” poses... we’re still recovering from the attitude overload. These shots are going straight into the Iguana Sign Language (ISL) book—coming soon(ish)!

Veterinarian Superhero Award

A massive THANK YOU to Dr. Mertz and the entire team at The Odd Pet Vet for keeping our scaly family healthy and happy for over ten years. You're the unsung heroes who make all of this possible!
